
SELECTED RESULTS OF REPORTED RIVER BASIN MANAGEMENT PLANS IN THE CZECH REPUBLIC

PRCHALOVA, H.; SEMERADOVA, S.; VYSKOC, P.

TGM Water Research Institute, p. r. i.

Keywords: Water Framework Directive – River Basin Management Plan – water status – water body – programme of measures – impacts and pressures analysis

River Basin Management Plans data processing enables obtain not only detailed summary of results, but also appreciates relations between partial results and their significance to achievement of specified objectives. The article is focused on selected results not recognized as priority ones. These results are water use of heavily modified water bodies, harmonisation of biological elements and general physico-chemical substances boundaries of good ecological status, identification of significant anthropogenic pressures, responsible for not achieving good status and cost of measures allocation. It is not possible to underestimate these relations due to an adequate efficiency of financial and time sources.